NIFTY CHART

Index continues to remain on track while momentum may only be distorted in case it slips below 14550. Option data indicates firm writing bounds been placed at 15000-14500 with an intermediate support near 14700. Even on its intraday scale slippages only below 14685 would result into a sideways consolidative range for the day. Traders should ideally deploy mean reversion trades & consider contra trades incase the price action develops around its option range for the day. OI-PCR is placed below 1 which supports the ongoing bullish bias while option pain zone as of now stands at 14700 hence we may see this level acting a mean / momentum gauging level for the expected trading range for the day.
