

Nifty Outlook

Markets registered losses for the second straight session tracking weak global cues. The Nifty index traded with a negative bias throughout the session and ended with losses of 1% at 14,697 levels. The broader markets too witnessed selling pressure as both Midcap and Smallcap ended with losses of 0.8% and 0.4% respectively. Amongst the sectors, except Auto which ended with marginal gains, all the other indices ended with losses wherein metal, banking and oil & gas were the top losers.

Markets would first react to the macroeconomic data viz. IIP data and CPI inflation on Friday. And, since we're closely following global markets of late, participants should keep a close watch on world indices for cues. Considering the scenario, we feel the prudent strategy is to keep a check on naked leveraged positions and wait for further clarity.
